The latter, called into Court with it, state, that it is the same napkin, as left at their house, but is not like the one, shown by pltf. Having been examined by pltf., she says, that two of the napkins, taken by deft. are changed and that the one with the mark may have been mixed with hers by Engeltie Mans at her wedding. The Court examines and compares the four napkins with those of the deft. and find them to be alike. Under date of September 8, 1653, the court minutes, again referring to this case, state: Madame Genes being summoned into court by the Schout... is asked (since Madame Genes intends to remove to Fatherland, and Annetiie aforesaid intends to go to Fort Orange) whether she can produce any further proof. She gives for answer: No other proof than before: that they are found in all respects like her napkins, and she is willing, if she can retain her napkins and 506 Calendar of Historical Manuscripts, I., p. 879. J. H. Innes, New Amsterdam and Its People. will remain unmolested on that account, to forgive the said Annetie her fault, and, never to trouble her on that account. Under date of September 9 the minutes state the following: Annetie..., wife of Age Bruynsen, appeared in Court; requests a pass to go to Fort Orange. Whereas she instituted the suit about the four napkins of Mme. Genes, and the case has not been prosecuted by her, therefore Burgomasters and Schepens notify her, the petitioner, first to sett...
